2017 RMAC WOMEN'S SOCCER: PRESEASON ALL-RMAC RELEASE

COLORADO SPRINGS, Colo. (August 29, 2017)- Emily Garnier of Colorado School of Mines and UCCS' Grace Ramsden headline the 2017 Rocky Mountain Athletic Conference (RMAC) Women's Soccer Preseason All-RMAC team as Players of the Year.

The preseason awards are voted on by the 11 conference head coaches. Coaches were not allowed to vote for their own student-athletes.

Garnier finished the 2016 as RMAC Player of the Year and Defensive Player of the Year. The 5-11 defender lead the Orediggers with 26 points on eight goals and notched a team-high 10 assists. She helped the Orediggers to RMAC regular-season and tournament championship titles, as well as an NCAA Elite Eight appearance. Garnier was named Colorado Sportswoman of the Year for college soccer, Mines' Female Athlete of the Year Blaster Awards, D2CCA First Team All-America, D2CCA South Central Regional Player of the Year, and NSCAA Second Team All-America.

Ramsden, a senior goalkeeper, played 1161-minutes in 2016. She was faced with 289 shots and 87 saves for a .649 save percentage. Her 87 saves helped the Mountain Lions rank second in the RMAC in saves per game with an average of 7.19 and ranks her fourth in the RMAC averaging 5.80 saves per game. The Loveland, Colorado native was also named RMAC All-Academic honor roll.
